

Interest of City's Leaders Insures Tulsa's Prosperity

Willingness of Prominent Citizens to Assume Civic Burdens a Good Indication.

BASEBALL LEADERS PRAISED

Business Methods of Man Interested in Tulsa's Team in W. L. Complimented.

In discussing local civic affairs with newspaper men Saturday morning, Secretary Douglas of the chamber of commerce said: "I think it is a good indication of continued prosperity for the city of Tulsa when big, busy men of very important private affairs will stop long enough to take up civic work and to do a portion of their time to doing these things necessary to build here a great city. I have particular reference to the election of a president, two vice-presidents and a treasurer of the Tulsa chamber of commerce, which occurred at the directors' meeting Friday."

For the past two years H. M. McFarlin has given much of his time and services to the development of the Tulsa chamber of commerce, and his administration has been one of the most pronounced successes in the history of this organization. He was assisted by H. H. Greer and Mark E. Carr, vice-presidents, two men of whom it has been frequently said are among the most useful in Tulsa.

Rogers New Leader.
At the meeting on Friday, Mr. Greer, in a splendid address, nominated as a successor to Mr. McFarlin, Harvey H. Rogers, one of the best known attorneys in the state, formerly a member of the McMan Oil company, who has been associated with Mr. McFarlin for the past 15 years. Mr. Rogers was elected by unanimous vote of the directors, and his opening address on the aims and object of the chamber of commerce was vociferously received. Succeeding Mr. Greer and Mr. Carr are J. M. Berry, president of the National bank, and E. G. Kennedy, the well known local capitalist and builder of the Kennedy building in this city. Mr. Boyd, the treasurer, an important official of the Union National bank, succeeded him, said in that position.

"Tulsa has been fortunate in that during the past several years the most important business men of the city have been willing to serve the chamber of commerce on its board of directors and as its executive officers, and in the election held last Friday no mistake has been made in keeping the high standards of the personnel of the executive officers up to par and in bringing additional influence, energy and executive ability to bear in the affairs of that organization."

A Baseball Team.

"A distinct feature in Tulsa during the present year will be the Tulsa league baseball team, which was recently placed in this city, the management of which is in the hands of one of the best grandstands and ball parks in the entire southwest. Contrary to the usual custom the management of the Tulsa team is looking to the baseball players as a purely business enterprise. They have gone into the deal along distinct business lines. The management went into the market and secured probably the best site in the city, easy of access to the city, and the game, and are building the necessary equipment to meet the approval of the most fastidious fan. The result is the representative business men of Tulsa in all lines of business and professions have become ardent boosters for the game and if the Tulsa team will measure up in efficiency to the enthusiasm of the local men for the club, and there is no doubt it will, Tulsa this year will be put on the baseball map in a manner which will be a surprise to the other cities of the league. I want to take this occasion to congratulate the management of Tulsa's league team on the manner in which they have conducted the affairs of their organization up to date and to assure them that treating baseball as a business proposition and not as an object of charity has brought to the local organization a dignity and support which could not have been secured in any other way."

General Meeting Friday.

"To meet the new officers of the chamber of commerce, the membership of that organization will assemble at 8 o'clock on the evening of Friday, April 11. The evening will be given over to getting acquainted with each other, important addresses and to a running discussion of the importance of the trade trips soon to be staged by the merchants of this city. One of the features of the evening is expected to be a talk by Mr. P. E. Hopkins, director of the organization, who has just returned from France, where he filled a very important position in railroad reconstruction and operation. Major Hopkins will tell us what it means to handle supplies for a million men on the firing line."

"Of interest to the citizenship generally was the report of the special waterworks committee of the chamber of commerce, a copy of which has been published in local papers. There is no doubt that the issue of the day before the citizens of Tulsa is the solution of the water problem and there is an apparent certainty that the people of this city, as evidenced by the action taken up to date, are determined this year to solve that problem."

"One of the gratifying features of the past month was the building permit which reached almost $500,000 out of this total it is interesting to know that permits were given out for homes, each averaging $1000 or more. This seems to justify the assertion that the home building has been reached in Tulsa and the slogan of 'Build a Home' is taking hold on the minds of the people and that Tulsa is rapidly becoming the home owned city of this section of the country."

State Legislation Favorable.
"Now that the legislature has adjourned there has been an opportunity to pass judgment on much legislation enacted and it is generally found to be good. The state-made laws by President Rogers of the State Bar association, that substantially every piece of legislation recommended by the state organization had been enacted into a law, is most gratifying in showing that the day of the early denouement has gone by and that the day of the constructive legislation in state legislative

BAKER HONORS ARMY OFFICERS AT CAPITAL

Secretary Pins Decorations on General Wood and Two Score More Leaders of Forces.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Secretary Baker personally presented distinguished service medals today to nearly two score officers and civilians who rendered conspicuous service to the nation in the preparation of the army and the mobilization of industry for the war, the first being Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, ranking officer of the regular army.

Others decorated included Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, retired, also a former chief of staff and now commanding at Camp Dix, and Wilbur A. Holbrook, who was cited for his conduct while commanding the southern department. The ceremony occupied most of the afternoon, as Mr. Baker personally read to each officer or civilian the citation under which the medal had been awarded to him and which recited the individual service he had rendered the country. The secretary then pinned on the breast of each man the medal itself.

Before he began presenting the medals, Mr. Baker made a brief address pointing out that while it had been the fortune of some officers to serve their country in the time of its peril at the front or with the armies in France, to others had come the no less trying and arduous duties that went with raising and training the army at home. He expressed his appreciation of the fact that of these officers withheld from service in the field, their orders silent disappointment and also his full recognition of the loyalty and devotion with which they had given themselves to the work before them whatever its nature, in order that the nation might triumph.

Second Anniversary Sees Efforts Made to Get Troops Home
WASHINGTON, April 5.—Commemorating on the fact that tomorrow will be the second anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the war, General March today said:

"Tomorrow, April 6, is the second anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the world war. One year ago we were starting a tremendous drive to get troops to France. When I took charge of the office of chief of staff on March 4 of last year, I found that February had touched bottom in the number of troops shipped abroad—only 42,000 men having sailed."

"We built ships; we bought ships; we begged ships; we commandeered ships and on last April 6, the flood of men across seas had definitely begun increasing in volume until we reached our maximum of 299,000 men in one month."

"Now on our second anniversary the great problem is to get our men back to their homes from across the seas. I have set a mark to be reached 310,000 men in one month. Each month is showing a steady increase over the month before, and we will do our best to break the record in trans-Atlantic shipments."

FIFTY-SEVEN ARRESTS ARE MADE IN SEATTLE RIOT

SEATTLE, Wash., April 5.—Fifty-seven arrests were made today by the police in rioting which took place when a half hundred former soldiers of the Soldiers and Sailors Mutual Aid association attempted to hold a tag sale on the streets of the city in the face of a police edict forbidding the sale.

Thousands of shipyard workers thronged the street corners and booed the police who were attempting to keep order.
